EU Non-PROLIFE

The European network of independe

In July 2010 the Council of the European Union decided to create a network bringing together foreign policy institutions and research centres from across the EU to encourage political and security-related dialogue and the longterm discussion of measures to combat the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction (WMD) and their delivery systems. The main aim of the network, the core of which is formed by Fondation pour la recherche strategique , HSFK/PRIF , IISS , and SIPRI , is to foster discussion of measures to combat proliferation within civil society, particularly among experts, researchers and academics. The Consortium works through the organisation of expert meetings, international conferences, ad hoc seminars, through the development of a dedicated website and through a family of publications.

The IRSEC Hub , or International Relations and Security Affairs Resource Hub, was created by the Prague Security Studies Institute (PSSI) in May 2014. The main goal of this initiative is to facilitate an online information platform that seeks to foster a more active and interconnected international relations and security affairs community within Visegrad countries and beyond. The IRSEC Hub project aims at supporting cooperation and information exchange within and between participating countries, elevate the level of public education in the region and attract greater attention to regional projects, events and research.
